

Young Arts Home At Last community opera

We have been involved in an exciting project this autumn (2018). The "Home At Last" community opera was commissioned to commemorate the end of World War 1. This involved local primary and secondary school pupils as well as adult choirs, soloists and orchestra. It was performed in St. Mary Redcliffe Church in October with the church decorated with 100 glass poppies which The Arts Society Bristol funded, with volunteers from the society helping primary school pupils to make the poppies.

From the Programme -

In 2013 we conceived the idea of 1918: Home at Last, and we are so proud to see it culminate in tonight's performance. Of course a huge number of people have helped immeasurably, and we would like to thank them all for making this event possible.

The Arts Council of Great Britain, Quartet Foundation, the Royal Society of St George, Paragon Music Trust (<http://www.paragonmusictrust.co.uk>), the Denman Charitable Trust and The Arts Society, Bristol for awarding us the grants necessary to fund this event

Young Arts Home At Last community opera

On display in the Church

One of the finished Poppies

Horfield C of E Primary School pupils creating the Poppies

